To whom it may concern,

I have had the pleasure of having Alvin Thosatria as a front-end development intern from July 13 to August 31, 2022. Alvin is exceptionally bright. His work capabilities and his positive attitude made him an excellent intern.

Over the course of the two months, Alvin has proven to be a great team player. He is able to seamlessly integrate himself into a team using his communication skills. His willingness to learn new skills, such as AWS Amplify, aided in better collaboration with his team and propelled the team to grow together. He demonstrated proficiency in ReactJS for web development. Additionally, he has worked on various ad-hoc projects - from research and development to responsive UI/UX design.

Having a problem-solver like Alvin on the team has been a great asset over the summer. Alvin has been a joy to work with as he is diligent with a strong work ethic. I have no reservations about recommending him for his future endeavours.
